
Contents

Acknowledgements	xii
-------------------------	-----

Introduction	1
--------------	---

What is this book about? 1

Why health and well-being in prisons? 2

The relation between health and well-being 3

The challenge of health and well-being in prisons 3

Structure of this book 4

PART I

Theoretical and historical foundations 7

1 Theoretical standpoints	9
---------------------------	---

The roots of well-being 9

Seligman's theory of well-being 13

Critical Realism: a theoretical lens to understand imprisonment 15

2 Punishment and prison design	19
--------------------------------	----

Ethical considerations in prison design 19

The justifications for punishment 20

Building a typological theory of prison systems 25

3 Evolution of prison models from the birth of the prison to the nineteenth century	34
---	----

From late antiquity to the prison reform 34

The birth of the Security prison model: nineteenth-century prison reform in the US 39

Scandinavian Repressive system before the Rehabilitation prison model 40

Latin American prison development and the Repressive roots of its Hybrid model 41

- 4 Prison models: recent history, and development from the twentieth century to the present 44
Prisons designed for behavioural change 44
Security prison model development 45
The Rehabilitation prison model's consolidation 50
Hybrid prison model in Chilean and Latin American prisons in the twentieth century to date 53

PART II

Human factors and the importance of the health and well-being of prison users 57

- 5 Why should prison design promote health and well-being? 59
The role of health and well-being in prisons and prison design 59
International concerns related to health and well-being in prison 62
Latest developments in prison architecture research 64
- 6 Environmental stressors to health 68
Physical environmental stressors 69
Psychological environmental stressors 74
Summary of findings 80

PART III

Case studies from the Hybrid, the Security, and the Rehabilitation models 81

- Introduction to Part III 83
- 7 International Advisors 85
Prison Policy Advisors 85
Prison Health Advisors 92
Comparative analysis between both groups 95
Key emerging themes and Meta-themes 99
- 8 The Hybrid prison model 101
Chilean prison design in the context 101
Analysis 102
Thematic areas emerging from High-level Staff interviews 107

Thematic areas emerging from prison designers' interviews	120
Key emerging themes and Meta-themes	125
9 The Security prison model	128
Prison design context in the US	128
Analysis	129
Thematic areas arising from High-level Staff interviews	134
Thematic areas emerging from Independent Designers' interviews	142
Key emerging themes and Meta-themes	149
10 The Rehabilitation prison model	152
Prison design context	152
Analysis	153
Thematic areas emerging from High-level Staff interviews	166
Thematic areas arising from Governmental Designers' interviews	179
Thematic areas emerging from Independent Designers' interviews	190
Key themes emerging from the Rehabilitation prison model	192
PART IV
Towards a new outline framework for prison design	195
11 Cross-case comparison of prison models	197
Summarising and organising individual case findings	197
Cross-case comparison among High-level Staff	199
Cross-case comparison among designers	209
How and why are some issues ignored?	215
12 Towards a new outline framework to design prisons that promote health and well-being	218
Building the new outline framework for prison design	218
Organised hypocrisy in prison services	226
Recommendations for promoting health and well-being in prison design	238
Appendix A	241
Appendix B	244
Appendix C	250
References	255
Index	273