

CONTENTS

Preface	ix
1 Introduction	1
ERIC AVILA AND THAÏSA WAY
I. LANDSCAPES OF SEGREGATION: INTENTIONS AND RATIONALES
2 Developing Spaces of Exclusion	23
PAIGE GLOTZER
3 Quarantine, Eradication, and Prescription
How Health Segregated the American Urban Landscape	47
SARA JENSEN CARR
4 Open Land for Whom?
Racial Segregation and Chicago's Urban Environment	75
BRIAN MCCAMMACK
5 Painting Race in Space
Racialized Landscapes and the Construction of Peripheral Territories in Colombia	107
ZANNAH MAE MATSON
II. SEGREGATION AS DISCURSIVE PROJECT
6 Following the Cement Supply Chain
Land Use and Racial Capitalism in the Lehigh Valley	139
VYTA PIVO
7 Where Was Jim Crow?
Frank Lloyd Wright, Broadacre City, and the All-White American Suburb	161
DIANNE HARRIS
8 A Landscape of Dissonance
Erasing Blackness in Suburban Appalachia	183
SHARÓNE L. TOMER

9	Making “A Waterfront for the World” Racial Capitalism, Indigeneity, and the Marketing of Zibi in Canada’s Capital HEATHER DORRIES	213
 III. COUNTERNARRATIVES AND RESISTANCE
10	Communal Gardens, Defensive Design, and Urban Apartheid in Chinatown Merced, California, 1870–1910 DAVID ROUFF AND VERENIZE ARCEO	235
11	Urban Markets, Rural Slums Segregation and Resistance in California’s “Unincorporated” Landscape ALISON B. HIRSCH	263
12	The Hallowed Grounds Tour Revising and Reimagining Landscapes of Race and Slavery at the University of Alabama HILARY GREEN	297
13	From Plantation to Museum The Whitney Plantation (Habitation Haydel) of the German Coast of Louisiana (1750–1860) IBRAHIMA SECK	325
14	“Monticello Is a Black Space” The Getting Word Project and the Future of African American History at Monticello NIYA BATES	347
	Contributors	375
	Index	381